GENERAL COMMENTS: (weather, population trends, etc.)

August was cool and wet (5th wettest on record in Grand Forks). September was dry and nice. October temperatures were normal, with an early snowstorm on 05 October covering southwest to northeast with 15 inches of snow. November was nice to mid-month with a fast freeze-up and another winter storm at the end of the month.

The shorebird migration at the beginning of the period was good in species and numbers. The woodland migration was uneventful with observers widely reporting a lack of birds in August and early September. The last third of September the weather changed and large numbers of the usual late species of warblers and sparrows passed through. Raptor migration was fairly uneventful. Generally the waterfowl had a very good showing with many reports of scoters and Long-tailed Ducks. The gull migration was good in October and November with 12 species reported.

MOST IMPORTANT OBSERVATIONS:

A Pacific Loon made a showing at Upper Souris NWR. In the waterfowl department a Harlequin Duck and Barrow's Goldeneye were reported. Little Gulls were again reported from Devils Lake, and there was a big showing of Lesser Black-backed Gulls from both Bismarck and Garrison Dam. A new peak was established for Mew Gulls with 3 seen on 29 Oct. at Garrison Dam. At the end of November, a Black-legged Kittiwake made a showing in Richland county. Shorebird reports included multiple Red Knots, Western Sandpipers, White-rumped Sandpipers, and two Red Phalaropes. Eurasian-Collared Doves continue their increase with multiple birds in Jamestown, and new reports from McHenry, Mountrail, and Ward Counties. There was an unusual summer report of Common Raven on the Missouri River south of Bismarck. An immature Selasphorous hummingbird was photographed and published in the Bismarck Tribune as a Ruby-throated, but no details were ever obtained. From Grand Forks comes a report of Wood Thrush, and in Fargo there were two reports of October Varied Thrushes. The bird of the season was a Green-tailed Towhee that arrived in September and stayed through the end of the period west of Grafton. The bird was actually first reported in December. Finally, a Great-tailed Grackle was reported from Long Lake NWR.

Conventions and Abbreviations:

County names are in italics. Species for which there are less than 20 state records are bold-faced. Other unusual species, very early or very late dates, and unusually high counts are underlined. BOP and EOP indicate the species was present at the beginning of the period or still present at the end of the period.
